

Lewes Public Library Request to Add Local Author's Work

The Lewes Public Library (LPL) values our local authors and welcomes the inclusion of their works into our collections. For a work to be added, it needs to meet the following criteria:

- “Local Author” is defined as created by someone who lives in the Lewes area , the work has significant Lewes or Delaware content, and/or the work has high interest for local residents.
- Local author works must meet selection criteria as defined by the LPL Collection Development Policy.

Works must be able to stand up to regular library use. They must have a library-rated binding (i.e. no stapled or spiral bindings), durable covers, and be in a format that LPL already collects and circulates.

Process for Submission

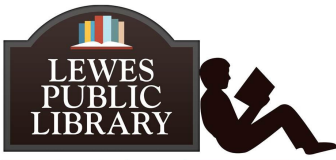

Interested authors that meet the above criteria can submit their work for consideration at the Circulation Desk. Please have the Request to Add Local Author's Work form prepared, keeping the following conditions in mind:

- A Request to Add Local Author's Work form is required for each work that is submitted for consideration.
- Local authors can submit a single copy of their work. The LPL will not add multiple copies of a local author's work.
- Collection funds are limited, so LPL is grateful to authors who choose to donate copies of their works. Authors who wish us to purchase their work should ensure that the work is available through Baker & Taylor and/or Amazon.com.
- Local authors' works will either be placed in the general collection or in our Delaware collection at the discretion of LPL.

LPL has limited shelf space and we focus on popular materials. If a local author's work is added but does not circulate, or the work is damaged, LPL reserves the right to delete it from the collection. We will not notify authors when their work is deleted.

Unsolicited works received by LPL which do not follow the above procedure will be treated as donations and will not be returned.
